GAS-HEATERS or NURSE LAMPS.—

W. F. SHAW'S PATENT, Boston, Mass.

75 cents each, at retail.

Atmospheric Air and Illuminating Gas used as fuel, to secure a ready means of heating a smail quantity of water; one pint will boil in five minutes. Place the Heater over any bat-wing or fish-tail gas-burner, the air flows in at the bottom, and comingles with the gas; iffuite this on the too of the gange surface, and you produce microse heat and blue flame, which is surrounded by a finely perforated the cylinder, by which the flame and products of combustion are supplied with atmospheric air at a very high temperature, necessary for a complete chemical aution or perfect combustion of the mixed gases. Without this surrounding perforated metal, they from not only noxious odors, but those deadly poisons, formic acid and aldebyde. As the apparatus is constructed by me, the most sensitive tests cannot detect their presence. In communications from Prof. A. A. Hayes, J. M.
